

Health Information to Support Public Health

FUNDING

Outreach awards to support healthier communities

TRAINING

Free professional development opportunities

ENGAGEMENT

Connect with multiple sectors and partners

The Network of the National Library of Medicine is a network of more than 9,000 public health agencies, libraries, and community-based organizations committed to improving the public's health through access to reliable health information. Visit us online to learn more about our funding, training, and outreach opportunities: nnlm.gov

This project has been funded in whole or in part with federal funds from the National Library of Medicine, National Institutes of Health, Department of Health and Human Services, under cooperative agreement number UG4LM013729 with the University of Iowa.

What Can NNLM Do for Me?

FINANCIAL SUPPORT

Divided into 7 regions, NNLM provides region-specific funding opportunities to organizations that advance our mission to improve the public health through access to health information. Learn more: nnlm.gov/funding

TRAINING AND TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE

NNLM offers an array of online and in-person educational opportunities at no charge. Webinars, self-paced courses, and customized offerings can be arranged. Select presentations are eligible for CHES CECH.

Additional information: nnlm.gov/training

COMMUNITY OUTREACH AND ENGAGEMENT

More than 9,000 public health agencies, libraries, community-based and other organizations are members of NNLM. Looking for partners in your community, state, or region? We can help identify partners that share a commitment to health improvement. Want to join the NNLM? It's free! Sign up at: nnlm.gov/membership

National Library of Medicine
Network of the National Library of Medicine